Message from the Speaker
Respecting Our Past, Embracing Our Future

Striking the perfect balance between our duty to preserve the centuries-old traditions on which our parliamentary system is based while holding a steady gaze on future growth and development is an act familiar to the Legislative Assembly Office (LAO). Perhaps more than most years 2013 tested our proficiency as the LAO carried out events and activities that both bolstered our connection to our parliamentary roots and laid the groundwork for the advancement of our services.

Far more than a single event, the Alberta Legislature Centennial Time Capsule placement took on a life of its own over the course of the year. Connecting our past, present and future, the time capsule became a bridge between generations and a symbol of our progress. Further emphasizing this link, the “Student Letters to the Future” Initiative will ensure that the voices of today resonate with the generations of tomorrow when the capsule is opened in 2112.

In support of our mandate to promote the parliamentary system in Alberta, I was pleased to host one of the largest parliamentary conferences in all of Canada. The Commonwealth Parliamentary Association Canadian Regional Conference brought together legislators from across the country and abroad to discuss numerous issues of common interest. Forums such as these are invaluable in building partnerships between regions and Legislatures.

Upholding democratic ideals, facilitating public engagement in the parliamentary process and encouraging active citizenship have always been top priorities for the LAO and are a large part of building a parliamentary legacy.

The move to what is currently referred to as the Edmonton Federal Building (EFB) will underpin these priorities and support development. Expected to begin in the spring of 2015, the relocation will allow for the expansion of our services to Members and the public as never before. In 2013, all branches were occupied with planning for the transition as well as for the organizational growth to follow.

During the year the LAO also celebrated many successes owing to the enhancement of service delivery. From offering streaming to mobile users, to providing creative solutions for human resource challenges, employees were focused on finding efficiencies that ultimately resulted in stronger support to our clients.

While none of us know what might unfold in the ensuing years, if we continue to build upon the traditions of our predecessors, we ensure a solid future for our organization and for the traditions of the institution we serve.

Honourable Gene Zwozdesky
Speaker of the Legislative Assembly of Alberta
“Change the world; make it a brighter place where everyone has a home and someone who cares about them. Make a difference while you are still here. You are the future of us; you determine how the world will be governed. Stand up for what you believe in and accept and love others for their differences. In the blink of an eye, you will become the past and 100 years from now people will look back on your legacy and hopefully say, ‘Wow, they really made a difference.’ You are the future.”

Established in 1983, the origins of Alberta’s Legislative Assembly Office can be traced back to 14th-century England, when Parliament elected the first Speaker and appointed the first Clerk. The Legislative Assembly Office works hard to uphold and abide by parliamentary tradition while at the same time ensuring our operations are run in a non-partisan manner and respond to the needs of the Members we serve.

It may come as a surprise to some, but the Legislative Assembly Office is not a government department. The government is the executive branch, responsible for applying and enforcing laws, and the Legislative Assembly is responsible for establishing those laws. The LAO is a unique entity separate from government with the dedication and commitment to provide all Members of the Legislative Assembly, regardless of party affiliation, with the support they need to represent and serve their constituents.
Our Team | Message from the Clerk

Even after close to 30 years, I find myself impressed by the degree of professionalism and co-operation demonstrated by this fine team. Our Members and the citizens of our province are well served by the employees of the LAO.

W.J. David McNeil

Respecting Our Past

What Is Old Is New Again

1909 – Time Capsule Restoration

In 2012, during the 100th anniversary of the Alberta Legislature Building, the time capsule that was buried in 1909 was retrieved from behind the cornerstone. The contents of the over-100-year-old vessel were later revealed, and after being on public display for over a year the arduous task of restoring the artifacts began. Legislature Library staff continued to work well into 2013 in collaboration with archivists from the Provincial Archives of Alberta to complete the process.

Valerie Footz, Legislature Librarian, asserted that the biggest challenge in their efforts has been the disintegration of the paper items discovered in the capsule. A century’s worth of Alberta’s extreme weather conditions was clearly too much for these historic items to keep their shape and form. As the time capsule was essentially stored outside, the freeze and thaw cycles greatly eroded the condition of the capsule and its contents.

2013 – Alberta Legislature Centennial Time Capsule

While it remained to be seen what thousands of Albertans would choose for the Alberta Legislature Centennial Time Capsule, Library staff began collecting possible items for inclusion early on. Limited edition and commemorative items were saved in case they were not available at the time the votes were tallied. According to Valerie Footz, “From a historical perspective we wanted to ensure that what Albertans chose could be included as their selections are important in conveying Alberta’s story to its future residents.”

As for the preservation process, ageless oxygen absorbers, archival safe bags and boxes, corrosion intercept bags and a method for the de-acidification of papers were all used to ensure that all the mementos were well protected. These comprehensive efforts were made to secure the capsule so that Albertans of tomorrow will find the items in good condition when it is opened in 100 years. Having learned from the past, a thick stainless steel box 0.75 mm thick was chosen as the container, and to further minimize exposure to moisture or other gasses that could damage the contents, the capsule was welded shut rather than just crimped closed.

2112 – Ahead by a Century

When the Alberta Legislature Centennial Time Capsule is opened in the year 2112, perhaps the overarching message that will be conveyed will be one of hope and optimism. Future generations will certainly find these sentiments within the eight letters to the future written by students from across the province. And while we do not know the content of private notes left in the capsule by the Speaker, Lieutenant Governor, Premier and Leaders of the Opposition parties, one can surmise that political and democratic perspectives of the day gave shape to their messages. Imagine the significance that such correspondence could hold for the future men and women who will sit in these honourable posts.

In the words of leading historic preservationist William Murtagh: “It has been said that, at its best, preservation engages the past in a conversation with the present over a mutual concern for the future.” If this is indeed true, then one can happily predict that our descendants, 100 years from now, will be engaged in both a hearty and meaningful discussion about the items that we have left for them to discover.
In today’s world there is a perception that communication between people has become more efficient. It is no wonder that many people enjoy the immediacy and wide reach of today’s technology as advances in social media, telecommunications and other computing applications are exciting and fast changing. Still, one might argue the tremendous value of traditional face-to-face meetings.

Organizations such as the Commonwealth Parliamentary Association (CPA) thankfully continue to recognize the importance of personal relationships. The association encourages and enables parliamentarians to reach beyond their own jurisdictions, contributing to the betterment of the democratic practices and effective policy-making.

Nothing is comparable to attending events such as the CPA Conference. Members have the opportunity to exchange personal reflections about their experiences; these one-on-one discussions can never take place quite the same way over the airwaves or through e-mail.

Likewise, such conferences also present myriad opportunities for staff to develop skills, broaden their scope of parliamentary proceedings and further their understanding of the nuances of the democratic system.

From July 14 to 20, 2013, Alberta Legislative Assembly Speaker, the Honourable Gene Zwozdesky, hosted the 51st Commonwealth Parliamentary Association Canadian Regional Conference, bringing together parliamentarians and clerks from across Canada and delegates from as far away as India and Australia.

The conference was truly an all hands-on-deck operation. The Legislative Assembly Office was called upon to co-ordinate all aspects of planning the CPA Conference and the execution of the comprehensive program.
“The staff’s collective efforts were instrumental in the successful delivery of the largest annual parliamentary conference in Canada.”

Robert H. Reynolds, QC, Law Clerk and Director of Interparliamentary Relations

All branches of the LAO took part in the planning and offered advice in their areas of expertise. “I am proud to say that the result was a seamless event overall,” said Robert H. Reynolds, QC, Law Clerk and Director of Interparliamentary Relations. “During the conference delegates were challenged with thought-provoking business sessions, and staff members had the chance to give our guests a favourable impression of the Alberta Assembly. Everyone acted as ambassadors and hosts on behalf of the Speaker, and our guests were treated with warm Alberta hospitality.”

Interparliamentary Relations, with the support of House Services and Parliamentary Counsel, led the charge and oversaw the delegate programs. VCSS contributed resources in the areas of hosting, tours, security, transportation and itinerary planning for the partners’ and youth programs. Communications offered their expertise in writing as well as designing conference materials and visual elements while Hansard provided transcription services for all of the meetings and business sessions. Human Resources co-ordinated staffing assignments throughout the event and FMAS ensured that all the necessary contracts for the delegates’ accommodations were in place well in advance of their arrival.

With a large number of staff with varying degrees of expertise and experience from across all branches involved in the CPA Conference, it was no wonder how well the event came together. Effective planning meetings amongst organizers prior to the conference were a key element that led to its success.

The people, the landscape and the diversity of Alberta were presented in a very good light due in large part to the hard work and commitment of every individual involved with the event. Every effort was made to ensure not only that delegates would have a meaningful experience during their visit to the Legislative Assembly of Alberta but also that organizers would learn a great deal from one another during the 51st CPA Canadian Regional Conference.

Honourable Charnjit Singh Atwal, Speaker of the Legislative Assembly of Punjab (India), addresses the delegation at the 51st CPA Canadian Regional Conference.
“The move to the Edmonton Federal Building will have an immense impact on our organization, its employees and its processes now and into the future.”

Scott Ellis, Director of Financial Management and Administrative Services
Embracing Our Future | Accommodating Growth, Fostering Innovation

The Alberta Legislature, the heart of democracy in our province, is not only a distinguished historical landmark but also a major tourist destination, attracting hundreds of thousands of visitors annually. The allure of the Legislature lies in the richness of its history and the majesty of its ornate architecture. From the colourful anecdote of Alberta ingenuity as illustrated by our first Mace, largely fashioned from recycled materials, to the ancient origins of the awe-inspiring Corinthian columns crafted from marble in a decadent tribute to the beaux arts style, our Legislature is beloved for the stories it tells. But, perhaps, most intriguing of all the tales are the accounts of the men and women who’ve held seats in each of Alberta’s 28 Legislatures thus far.

Janet Schwegel, Managing Editor of Alberta Hansard explains, “The crucial work that has taken place within the Chamber over the past century is, in essence, a record of our province’s progress.”

Decisions made by our legislators become part of society’s collective story, and for over 30 years the LAO has helped the Legislative Assembly in composing this canon. The long-awaited move to the Edmonton Federal Building (EFB) signals the beginning of a new chapter. The EFB will foster an environment of innovation, allowing for the enhancement of our services to Members and the public.

To further educate our public

One of the most anticipated attractions is the visitor centre, which will further our mandate to educate Alberta’s citizens and encourage participation in our parliamentary system. While exploring the dynamic space, visitors will delve into our province’s history, experience our cultural diversity and discover the many ways Albertans can participate in active citizenship. A highlight of the space, an 80-seat theatre-in-the-round, will support educational programming. Brian Hodgson, Director of Visitor, Ceremonial and Security Services, looks forward to showcasing our province as never before. In describing the benefits of the new space, he said, “Public education can take many forms, and the visitor centre will provide countless ways for the public to learn about and appreciate the province.”

VCSS is overseeing the creation of the visitor centre as well as the countless exhibits, displays and interactive elements to be featured throughout. In addition to supporting educational programming goals, it is anticipated that the new space will allow for additional event opportunities. As well, a new 3,000-square-foot gift shop will ensure that visitors encapsulate their informative experience with a keepsake, literally taking home a piece of Alberta.
To encourage greater participation in the parliamentary system

To further advance our public engagement goals, we are overseeing the construction of a new committee facility on the second floor of the EFB. Each of the facility’s four committee rooms will feature state-of-the-art equipment to effectively support current and future technological demands. More in-house seating for the public, additional space designated for the media and live video streaming of committee proceedings are advancements that, as explained by Shannon Dean, Senior Parliamentary Counsel and Director of House Services, will allow for greater public involvement in the committee process, an important part of the parliamentary system and one of the only avenues open to the public for providing direct input into proposed legislation.

Together with Broadcast Services, Information and Technology Services (ITS) has co-ordinated everything from the acquisition of prebuilt AV and broadcast equipment to outfit the committee facility to the design of the facility itself.

To better support our Members

In addition to the public spaces, the EFB will accommodate offices for several Members of the Legislative Assembly and their staff as well as the majority of LAO employees. The modern and efficient workspaces will better support our fast-paced and dynamic work environment, providing flexibility for our Members’ ever-changing needs.

As with any move of this magnitude, a great deal of planning and logistical management has been required to co-ordinate the transfer of staff and office records. Heading up the LAO move, Financial Management and Administrative Services (FMAS) continues to liaise with a multitude of government and private organizations to ensure the space fits our varied needs.

Preparations, which began in 2008, will culminate in the relocation of staff between the spring and summer of 2015. As the move date inches closer, we begin to truly comprehend the immense impact the move will have on our operations. In addition to providing greater function, Al Chapman, Manager of Visitor Services, anticipates that the EFB will facilitate the creation of new stories and provide innovative ways to impart them to our public.
“The road to success for any organization lies in the strength of its team, and building a great team begins at the recruitment stage. Creating efficiencies in the recruitment process was a focus for the LAO in 2013.”

Cheryl Scarlett, Director of Human Resources, Information Technology and Broadcast Services

Twice annually the LAO hosts information seminars for constituency office staff. As part of the winter seminar staff participate in a mock debate in the Legislature Chamber as pictured above.
Embracing Our Future | Enhanced Service Delivery

Striving to better support our Members and the citizens they serve, the LAO consistently evaluates and, where possible, improves its processes. Creating efficiencies in recruitment, embracing technology and furthering the parliamentary education of our citizens are examples of how we achieved these goals in 2013.

Employee development: A sound solution to workforce shortages

For the better part of a decade Alberta has experienced a widespread workforce shortage. One method used to manage this challenge is employee development. Looking to existing talent oftentimes proves more successful and always less time intensive. This is especially true with positions classified as difficult-to-fill, either because of their temporary duration or specialized nature.

Armed with an understanding of the LAO’s unique organizational culture, current staff members often transition easily. In addition to being fiscally responsible, this strategy provides staff with growth opportunities that can lead to improved job engagement.

Recruitment strategies focus on reducing timelines from advertisement to offer

Certainly, situations arise when recruiting from within is not an option. Remaining competitive in this challenging employment market requires expediency during the recruitment process to lessen the possibility of losing candidates to other opportunities. In 2013 the LAO’s recruitment strategies consciously focused on reducing timelines from advertisement to offer. While continuing to use a targeted approach, the HRS team consistently incorporated creative candidate pool sources.

Employing a technical approach ensures the right person for the job every time

Streamlining the processes used to reach eligible candidates is only half of the recruitment battle. The obvious next step is understanding what is required in order for an employee to succeed in a job, which is critical in building organizational effectiveness. In 2013 HRS formally introduced a competency framework to aid them in this process. In formalizing the competencies required for each position and by threading these competencies through advertisements, job profiles and interview plans, HRS was able to identify and select the best candidates. Building on our already strong team ensures success for the future.
Streaming of Assembly Online Becomes Mobile

Mobile devices have essentially become remote controls for our daily lives. They increase our ability to connect, communicate and share information quickly, making it easier to stay informed. In this epoch of immediacy “live” has redefined what it means to be “current.” In 2013 the LAO’s Information Technology Services (ITS) branch conducted a mobile systems pilot for live video streaming of session through Assembly Online. Following this success the project was expanded to include the audio streaming of committee proceedings. The upgraded web stream of House and committee activity now accommodates standard mobile platforms, including Apple, Android and BlackBerry devices.

Bringing the Legislative Assembly to mobile devices everywhere improves access to the parliamentary process in our province, ensuring Albertans keep current regarding important provincial issues.

Turning our gaze inward, the LAO also made improvements to keep our staff and Members connected.

LAO Moves to a Wireless Network

With the advent of the smart phone the virtual office has quickly become the rule rather than the exception. In 2013 the LAO further supported Members’ and staff’s connectivity needs with the institution of a wireless Internet program. Always in a state of transit between office and the House, Members are now connected, whether they are in the Legislature Building, the Legislature Annex or anywhere in between. Yes, the pedway is also wired. Considerably more involved than hooking up a wireless router as one might do at home, instituting wireless for the precincts required the customized design of a secure network.

Outfitting a century-old, stone-built heritage building with modern technology will always come with challenges. One of the more difficult aspects of the project was seamlessly merging wired and wireless technologies. The network design chosen takes advantage of leading-edge technology that will provide flexibility for future expansion. Led by ITS in cooperation with a third-party security consulting firm, this project will be expanded to provide wireless services to constituency offices in 2014.

In supporting our Members’ connectivity needs, we not only put them in touch with the resources they need to do their jobs but also increase their accessibility to the constituents whom they serve.

Val Rutherford, Manager of IT Planning & Development asserts that mobility is at the forefront of both the day-to-day operational needs and future planning initiatives for the LAO and further states, “The mobility landscape evolves at a rapid pace, and in response we continually review our processes in relation to technological advancements, looking for solutions that balance business needs and our security practices.”

From connectivity to accessibility, so much of what we do revolves around the online world. In 2013, we increased the accessibility of House publications by participating in a project to create a nation-wide searchable database.
Increasing Access to Parliamentary Documents

The daily business of the House is a reflection of the current state of affairs in the province, providing a snapshot into society at any given moment. Those looking to educate themselves on provincial matters can turn to any number of House resources, but government documents, in particular, have become increasingly accessible as of late.

The GALLOP (Government and Legislative Libraries Online Publications) portal went live across the country in 2013 and from planning to development to rollout, we were extensively involved in the cross-jurisdictional collaboration.

The portal is user-friendly and allows keyword searches of full text government documents from various parliamentary jurisdictions. Simply type in a topic and the results for a number of jurisdictions will appear. Take, for instance, seat belt safety. There are over 1,500 federal documents on this topic from the Canadian Parliament alone. In all, this sample search garnered over 2,468 results from across Canada.

In addition to the public, the portal also assists Legislature Library staff when researching the activities of other Canadian jurisdictions. Every day the Library fields public and internal queries alike on any number of topics.

The GALLOP Portal was initially created to preserve access to the electronic government publications of participating jurisdictions, but it has become an essential tool for efficiently locating research and reports relating to key issues, public policy and legislation across the country. In addition to federal documents, the records of the Legislative Assembly of Alberta and nine other jurisdictions in Canada, including British Columbia, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Québec, Ontario, Newfoundland and Labrador, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and the Northwest Territories, are also accessible.

The GALLOP portal is available through a link on the Alberta Legislature Library online catalogue. Consolidating materials captured and catalogued by legislative library staff from Legislatures across the country streamlines access to information, which, according to Legislature Librarian Valerie Footz, “Provides efficient retrieval for parliamentarians and, ultimately, facilitates public education, ensuring engaged and informed citizens.”

From furthering our public education efforts to providing a workplace that functions on par with our efficient and dynamic team, success was achieved on many fronts in 2013, all of which were the result of hard work and ingenuity.
A Meaningful Life

A Meaningful Life is a collaborative art project between Calgary professional artist Jeff de Boer and 24 artists with developmental disabilities. The sculpture depicts original artworks that represent what constitutes a meaningful life for each artist.

On March 5, 2013, Speaker Zwozdesky welcomed the group and presented their sculpture in the Legislature rotunda, one of its first stops on its tour of the province.

“All Albertans have abilities and deserve to lead a purposeful life.”

Chief Electoral Officer Farewell

On April 22, 2013, a celebration took place in honour of Brian Fjeldheim, who worked with Elections Alberta for over 20 years and was twice appointed to the role of Chief Electoral Officer.

“Mr. Fjeldheim has been steadfast in ensuring the integrity of his post and the fairness of Alberta’s electoral process.”

Alberta Legislature Centennial Time Capsule

On Wednesday, September 25, 2013, with the placement of the Alberta Legislature Centennial Time Capsule the year-long centenary celebrations came to a fitting close.

Albertans were invited to watch the placement ceremony live on the Assembly’s website. The event also featured the recognition of eight Alberta students whose letters to the future were chosen to be included amongst the time capsule’s contents.

Over 50 items significant to our province, all of which represent various aspects of today’s Alberta: its people, traditions and culture, were placed in the time capsule. Each item was carefully preserved for safekeeping, to be discovered by future Albertans on the bicentennial of the Legislature Building, in 2112.

Along with the Honourable Wayne Drysdale, Minister of Infrastructure, the Honourable Speaker Zwozdesky participated in the placement of the time capsule into its rightful place behind the cornerstone of the Alberta Legislature Building as special guests looked on.

“In 1909 Alberta MLAs had the foresight to place this time capsule … giving us a peek into our past. It is now our responsibility to continue this tradition of honouring and preserving significant elements of our province and sharing them with Albertans of the future.”

Speaker Zwozdesky

Diwali

On October 29, 2013, for the first time in its history the Legislative Assembly of Alberta celebrated Diwali, the Hindu festival of lights. Light plays an important role in the Hindu religion as it symbolizes understanding, knowledge and ultimately enlightenment.

Diwali is one of the most auspicious occasions in the South Asian culture.

There are approximately 24,000 people of Hindu denomination in Alberta.

Speaker Zwozdesky hosted the Diwali celebration in the Legislature rotunda, and the event included performances by young students of the South Asian Arts Movement Society.

“Alberta is a diverse, culturally rich province, and I am delighted to now count the festival of lights among the myriad of cultural celebrations held at the Alberta Legislature.”

Speaker Zwozdesky

Independent Auditor’s Report

To the Speaker of the Legislative Assembly

Report on the Financial Statements
I have audited the accompanying financial statements of the Legislative Assembly Office, which comprise the statement of financial position as at March 31, 2013, and the statements of operations, changes in net assets and cash flows for the year then ended, and a summary of significant accounting policies and other explanatory information.

Management’s Responsibility for the Financial Statements
Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of these financial statements in accordance with Canadian public sector accounting standards and for such internal control as management determines is necessary to enable the preparation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditor’s Responsibility
My responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on my audit. I conducted my audit in accordance with Canadian generally accepted auditing standards. Those standards require that I comply with ethical requirements and plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free from material misstatement.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. The procedures selected depend on the auditor’s judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal control relevant to the entity’s preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity’s internal control. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements.

I believe that the audit evidence I have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for my audit opinion.

Opinion
In my opinion, the financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the Legislative Assembly Office as at March 31, 2013, and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the year then ended in accordance with Canadian public sector accounting standards.

Within the traditions of parliamentary democracy as constitutionally established in Alberta, the Legislative Assembly Office will:

1. Support the Speaker of the Legislative Assembly in carrying out the duties of office.
2. Support Members by providing services, advice, information and infrastructure required to carry out their roles as elected representatives.
3. Record the proceedings and maintain and preserve the records of the Legislative Assembly.
4. Inform and educate the public on behalf of Members and the institution of Parliament.
5. Provide a positive, productive, healthy and secure environment for Members and staff of the Assembly.
6. Support the Assembly in protecting its institutions and privileges.
7. Support the exchange of ideas/information among Parliaments.
8. Build partnerships with external clients in support of the institution of Parliament.

NOTE 3 Summary of Significant Accounting Policies and Reporting Practices
These financial statements are prepared in accordance with Canadian public sector accounting standards.

a) Reporting Entity
The reporting entity is the Legislative Assembly Office, for which the Clerk of the Legislative Assembly is responsible.

The Office operates within the General Revenue Fund (the “Fund”). The Fund is administrated by the President of Treasury Board and Minister of Finance. All cash receipts of the Office are deposited into the Fund and all cash disbursements made by the Office are paid from the Fund. Net financing provided from (for) General Revenues is the difference between all cash receipts and all cash disbursements made.

b) Basis of Financial Reporting

Revenues
All revenues are reported on the accrual basis of accounting.

Expenses
Expenses represent the costs of resources consumed during the year in the Office’s operations.

Valuation Adjustments
Valuation adjustments include changes in the valuation allowances used to reflect assets at their net recoverable or other appropriate value. Valuation adjustments also represent the change in management’s estimate of future payments arising from obligations relating to vacation pay and transition allowance.

Assets
Financial assets of the Office are limited to financial claims such as cash, advances to and accounts receivable from other organizations, employees and other individuals.

Inventory held for resale is reported at the lower of cost and net realizable value.

Tangible capital assets of the Office are recorded at cost and amortized on a straight-line basis over the estimated useful lives of the assets. An asset is deemed a capital item if its invoiced cost is $5,000 (or greater) per item or if an assembly of connected components makes a whole asset (inclusive of labour, shipping, consulting, etc). The amortization periods are as follows:

- Computer hardware and software: 3 years
- Other equipment: 5 years
- Furniture: 10 years

The Office follows government budgetary practices that allow funds from an operating budget to be used to purchase tangible capital assets. These purchases are included in expenses on the statement of operations but are then removed from expenses through a valuation adjustment and are capitalized and amortized over their useful lives.

The fair value of cash and accounts receivable and advances are estimated to approximate their carrying values.

Liabilities
Liabilities include all financial claims payable by the Office at fiscal year end.

The Members’ transition allowance is estimated based on Members’ years of service and their most recent remuneration amounts. The annual charge is the amount that is estimated to have been earned by Members during the year.

The fair values of accounts payable and accrued liabilities, and Members’ transition allowance are estimated to approximate their carrying values.
Net Assets

Net assets represent the difference between the carrying values of assets held by the Office and its liabilities.

Canadian public sector accounting standards require a “net debt” presentation for the statement of financial position in the summary financial statements of governments. Net debt presentation reports the difference between financial assets and liabilities as “net debt” or “net financial assets” as an indicator of the future revenues required to pay for past transactions and events. The Office operates within the government reporting entity and does not finance its expenditures by independently raising revenues. Accordingly, these financial statements do not report a net debt indicator.

NOTE 5  Expenses Incurred by Alberta Infrastructure (in thousands)

The Office had the following transaction with Alberta Infrastructure for which no consideration was exchanged. The amount for this transaction is estimated based on the actual costs incurred by Alberta Infrastructure to provide the service. The estimated cost for the service is $3,656 for 12,050 usable m² (2012 - $3,403).

NOTE 6  Members’ Transition Allowance Liability (in thousands)

The Office implemented a Members’ transition allowance on October 1, 1998. The provisions of the allowance were established in accordance with the Members’ Allowances Order (RMSC 1992, c. M-1, as amended, Section 9).

A transition allowance is paid to every Member at the time of dissolution of the Legislature unless they are re-elected in the next election. Members who resign their seats are also eligible for the allowance.

Under section 9, the amount paid for service commencing on or after March 20, 1989, is determined by multiplying three months salary, based on the average monthly salary for the three calendar years in which the person received their highest salary, by the number of years the person served as a Member on or after March 20, 1989. “Salary” is defined in section 9(1). For service periods prior to March 20, 1989, the allowance is calculated by multiplying the highest rate of a Member’s monthly indemnity and expense allowances for one month for every year of service prior to March 20, 1989 with no restrictions. There is no credit for years of service for which the Member has previously received a payment under Section 9 or the predecessor section. Eligible recipients may elect to be paid the allowance over a period of up to four years.

In the event of death of an active Member, a transition allowance equivalent to the amount owed at passing is paid to the Member’s estate.
Liability at beginning of year $29,748 $26,721
Total transition allowance payments (12,699) (816)
Total transition allowance expense 194 3,843
Liability at end of year $17,243 $29,748

Voted expense $0 $4,725
Valuation adjustment 194 (882)
Total transition allowance expense $194 $3,843

Changes were made to the allowance effective April 23, 2012. Members will no longer receive credit for service after April 22, 2012. However, any amounts owed to Members for prior service, up to April 22, 2012, will be paid in the future when they cease to be a Member.

NOTE 7 Defined Benefit Plans (in thousands)
The Office participates in the following multi-employer pension plans: Management Employees Pension Plan and Public Service Pension Plan. The Office also participates in the multi-employer Supplementary Retirement Plan for Public Service Managers. The expense for these pension plans is equivalent to the annual contributions of $2,176 for the year ending March 31, 2013 (2012 - $1,773).
At December 31, 2012, the Management Employees Pension Plan reported a deficiency of $303,423 (2011 – deficiency of $517,726) and the Public Service Pension Plan reported a deficiency of $1,645,141 (2011 – deficiency of $1,790,383). At December 31, 2012, the Supplementary Retirement Plan for Public Service Managers had a deficiency of $51,870 (2011 - deficiency of $53,489).
The Office also participates in two multi-employer Long Term Disability Income Continuance Plans. At March 31, 2013, the Bargaining Unit Plan reported an actuarial surplus of $51,717 (2012 – surplus of $9,136) and the Management, Opted Out and Excluded Plan an actuarial surplus of $18,327 (2012 – surplus of $10,454). The expense for these two plans is limited to the employer’s annual contributions for the year.

NOTE 11 Approval of Financial Statements
These financial statements were approved by the Clerk of the Legislative Assembly.
Commonwealth Parliamentary Association
Alberta Branch
In 2013 I was pleased to host the 51st Commonwealth Parliamentary Association (CPA) Canadian Regional Conference, bringing together parliamentarians and clerks from across Canada and abroad, including India, the British Virgin Islands and from as far afield as Tasmania.

The conference provided relevant business sessions covering a plethora of topics, including technology, private Members’ business, representation by women and labour market trends. The ensuing discussions were engaging and dynamic. A particularly resonant presentation was delivered by our own George Rogers, Deputy Speaker. Mr. Rogers discussed the recent move by the Alberta Legislative Assembly to publicly report Members’ expenses, an initiative that I highly support.

The all-party Special Standing Committee on Members’ Services, which I chair, approves the measures governing financial and personnel administration for Members of the Legislative Assembly. Members’ expenses fall within this purview and the topic of publicly reporting Members expenses was the source of rousing debate not that long ago.

Public confidence rests in a parliamentary system that is both accountable and transparent. The principle of accountability stipulates that representatives are responsible to the electorate for their decisions and actions. Transparency further specifies that the decisions and actions of the representatives must be open to public access and scrutiny. As stewards, we MLAs are responsible for the proper and efficient allocation of public funds and, so, in November of 2012 the Members’ Services Committee adopted a policy on MLA expense reporting and disclosure. This policy would see authorized expenditures related to accommodation, meals, hosting and travel that have been approved for reimbursement by the Legislative Assembly Office disclosed 30 days following the conclusion of each quarter. The first set of reports was posted to the Legislative Assembly website at assembly.ab.ca on April 30, 2013. This move is in line with Legislatures across Canada and goes a long way towards demonstrating a commitment by the Members of Alberta’s Legislative Assembly to maintain the public trust.

The CPA Canadian Regional Conference provided a wonderful opportunity for the LAO and participating Members of the Alberta Legislative Assembly to showcase our province and to highlight our Legislative Assembly’s processes and procedures.

Honourable Gene Zwozdesky, president of the Alberta branch of the CPA and 12th Speaker of the Legislative Assembly of Alberta
Secretary’s Report

“Conferences encourage co-operation and dialogue, the starting points for meaningful partnerships and progress . . .”

W.J. David McNeil, Secretary of the Alberta branch of the CPA and Clerk of the Legislative Assembly of Alberta

We are fundamentally social creatures. Learning from the experiences of others and improving upon their processes are evolutionary imperatives, also referred to as social learning.

Parliamentary conferences bring Legislators and presiding officers together to network, to discuss issues of common concern and to learn from each other. This year 17 conferences and seminars were attended by our Members, and the networking and collaboration at each proved invaluable to their development as parliamentarians.

I attended the 30th Canadian Presiding Officers’ Conference between January 31 and February 3, where discussions spanned several topics, including the future of the Commonwealth Parliamentary Association (CPA). The CPA has been a voice for parliamentary democracy across the Commonwealth for close to a century. During conferences global political issues and developments in the parliamentary system are examined in-depth. Delegates focus on making meaningful contributions to the creation of sensible parliamentary practices and effective policies. Over the course of a few days, we share experiences and glean new perspectives; we foster friendships and meaningful partnerships. Face-to-face communication may have taken a back seat in society, but it continues to thrive in parliamentary circles, where learning from others is the primary form of instruction. The CPA is relevant today and will persevere into the future.

Interparliamentary relations also extend growth opportunities to staff. In July the LAO was called upon to host the largest annual parliamentary conference in Canada, the CPA Canadian Regional Conference. The branches of the LAO came together to co-ordinate the sizeable event and staff, that otherwise wouldn’t, experienced our organization’s parliamentary role. They also received valuable insight into the workings of each branch. In essence, conferences become large-scale team-building exercises. Whether you look at it from the perspective of a legislator or that of a staff member, the opportunity to learn from others is priceless, social learning at its best.

Commonwealth Women Parliamentarians (CWP) Outreach Program
Québec City, Québec | March 20 – 23, 2013

Bridget Pastoor, MLA, Lethbridge-East

Agenda

1. Training session by Groupe Femmes, Politique et Démocratie: Le mentorat en politique (Mentoring in politics)
2. Meeting with members of the working group of elected women officials of the Assembly of First Nations of Québec and Labrador – Testimonies and discussions with elected aboriginal women
3. Lunch and learn with women journalists from the Québec Parliamentary Press Gallery
4. Femmes journalistes, femmes parlementaires: Comparaisons et interactions (Women journalists, women parliamentarians: Comparisons and interactions)

Delegate Report

The Commonwealth Women Parliamentarians (CWP) outreach program included participants from Québec, Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Northwest Territories, Prince Edward Island and a women’s working group of elected officers of the Assembly of First Nations for Québec and Labrador.

The session on mentoring in politics was facilitated by Elaine Hemond, founder of Groupe Femmes Politique et Démocratie. The emphasis was on the importance of intergenerativity and the sharing of wisdom and experience of present and past female politicians and mentors. An expression for the need to recruit more mentors was discussed and an idea of how to achieve that goal was recorded.

The session on testimonies and discussions with elected aboriginal women was attended by First Nations women from Québec and Labrador. They are part of a working group which falls under the umbrella of the Native Women’s Association of Canada, which is an aggregate of 13 aboriginal women’s groups from all across Canada. They pointed out cultural differences in approaches to solutions. Their concerns mirrored those of Canadian women in general and included the concern about equal opportunity for First Nation women to have a role in shaping legislation relevant to aboriginal women. In addition, they wanted the opportunity to preserve aboriginal culture along with excellent education on and off reserves, skill training for their children and to increase the number of aboriginal women elected to band governance, recognizing that each nation and band has various ways of governance.

The visit to l’école secondaire de Neufchâtel, a high school co-op celebrating their 30th anniversary and a leader in its field, was very interesting. Their student council was turned into a model parliament. All members are elected and have input into decisions affecting the student body. They meet every nine days in addition to two evening parliamentary sessions. As a result, many physical and curriculum changes have been made in their school. There was a panel discussion with the parliamentary group as well as thoughtful questions from the students. It was noted that the elected gender balance for their student parliament was mainly equal.

The parliamentary group visited and was recognized in the Québec National Assembly.

The session on “women journalists, women parliamentarians: comparisons and interactions” was held over a working lunch. Female journalists for print, radio and television were present. There was a lively conversation about the responsibilities that female journalists and elected women have to their respective constituents. An interesting observation was shared that the glass ceiling, although it has cracks, still exists within their industry.

A guided tour of the Parliament Building provided a great visual lesson into the French side of our Canadian history.

A social session came in the form of a guided tour and dinner at a “sugar shack” in the Québec countryside, an event much appreciated, particularly as it was maple sugar season and the sap was running into the hundreds of pails attached to the trees. French Canadian and Métis music and dancing were so appropriate in that setting.

The objectives were networking and sharing of information on how to increase the participation of women in elected politics and progress on each area to the goal. A particular emphasis was placed on engaging young female student and working leaders and to understand the reason that engagement drops off for women in their early 20s.

Delegate Report

First off, I would like to thank the Speaker’s Office for letting me represent the province on this trip. We were welcomed by MP Joe Preston, chair of the Canadian branch of the CPA. I would have to say that this was a great experience for me, to meet 21 delegates from all over Asia, Africa, Australia, the British Isles, and the Mediterranean, the Caribbean, India, the Pacific region and, of course, two delegates from Canada. We started off with an overview of the role of the Canadian Parliament, which was very insightful and was handled by the Clerk of the House of Commons. To finish off day one, we had a round-table discussion on regional topics. It makes for such a great discussion when you have such a large group from all over the world.

On day two we started off with a great conversation on parliamentary committees and how they work in Canada and also how they work across the other countries. The second part of the day we went over the role of party caucuses. Another interesting session was on financing elections and what was the best way to do it.

Day three was truly a highlight of the trip. We attended the Senate and were recognized. Then we walked to the House of Commons and got to watch question period.

Day four we had a couple of speakers talk about the influence lobbyists have on government and on parliamentarians. It was very interesting to hear how some states or provinces or countries deal with lobbyists and how some don’t even have any rules in place to deal with them. We then had an open conversation on being a parliamentarian versus being a politician. This was a great debate on how we should carry ourselves and what our real jobs are as MLAs.

Delegate Report by Mary Anne Jablonski

On Sunday, July 14, 23 CWP members attended the steering committee meeting held at the Legislature Annex, fourth floor, in committee room A. Discussions were held regarding the mission and value statements of the CWP Canadian Region, future activities of the CWP, the CWP budget, increasing the percentage of female candidates in elections and at all levels of government and promoting good governance.

On Monday, July 15, 39 members of the CWP Canadian Region attended business sessions at the Alberta Legislature. Members were welcomed by Ms. Myrna Driedger, chair, CWP Canadian Region, and MLA for Charleswood in Manitoba, and by Mary Anne Jablonski, MLA for Red Deer-North and Alberta representative.

After the annual CWP business session and health break the CWP was very pleased to have the Honourable Alison Redford, Premier of Alberta, speak to the members as A Woman of Inspiration. Members were very pleased and honoured to hear Premier Redford speak, to have her answer questions and, afterwards, to have a group photo taken as well as pictures with individual members of the group.

The CWP then heard from two excellent guest speakers, Ms. Lesley Scorgie and Ms. Margaret Bateman. Ms. Scorgie wrote the book Rich by Thirty, and Ms. Bateman is an organizational consultant. Both guest speakers were well received.

Once the CWP proceedings were completed, CWP members were greeted by the Speaker of the Alberta Legislature, the Honourable Gene Zwozdesky, and by the chair of the CWP, Ms. Myrna Driedger.

The CWP, Canadian Region steering committee meeting and the CWP business session were both well received by all members.

Delegate Report by Steve Young

I was fortunate to participate in the 62nd Westminster Seminar on Parliamentary Practice and Procedure presented by the Commonwealth Parliamentary Association (CPA) UK Branch. I attended with Robert Reynolds, QC, Law Clerk and Director of Interparliamentary Relations, on behalf of the Legislative Assembly. Typically, these seminars have been held in March, which makes it difficult for Members from Alberta to attend given that the Assembly is usually in session. The year I attended marked a departure as the seminar was moved to June. Alberta was fortunately selected to send participants.

There were five days of sessions, running from Monday, June 17, until Friday, June 21. Most of the sessions were held in Portcullis House, which is located across the street from Parliament at Westminster. The Palace of Westminster, which houses both Houses of Parliament in the UK, may be more easily recognizable as the location of the iconic Big Ben.

There were 83 delegates from 42 jurisdictions throughout the Commonwealth who attended the seminar. The sessions covered a variety of subjects concerning the operation of Assemblies and the roles of Members. Some of the specific topics included an introduction to UK Parliament; bicameralism: the work of the second Chamber; the committee system; devolution; broadcasting Parliament; and women in Parliament. In the Members only session, which ran for one day, some of the topics were the role of the Member, party discipline and the role of the Leader of the House. That day there was a parallel session for clerks, which Mr. Reynolds attended, concerning the provision of services to Members, including legal and procedural advice.

We were fortunate enough to have plenary sessions with the Speaker of the House of Commons, the Right Honourable John Bercow, MP, and the Speaker of the House of Lords the Right Honourable Baroness D’Souza. Individual sessions included participation by the Right Honourable Baroness Hayman, former Speaker of the House of Lords, in a session on women in Parliament, and by the Right Honourable Kevin Barron, MP and chair of the Standards and Privileges Committees, on standards and privileges.

A unique part of the seminar occurred on the final day, when the delegates were divided into groups to participate in constituent office visits with individual MPs throughout the Greater London area. I was fortunate enough to be part of a group hosted by Mr. Virendra Sharma, MP for the constituency of Ealing Southall. It was informative to view the similarities and differences in how MPs in the UK and MPs in Alberta perform their duties.

In summary, I was very grateful for the opportunity to attend this prestigious seminar. I found it to be an excellent opportunity to learn more about the role of a parliamentarian. Of course, the chance to share experiences with fellow parliamentarians and clerks from across the Commonwealth is incomparable. I fully support and encourage the Legislative Assembly of Alberta’s future participation in this event.

Delegate Report by Janice Sarich

It was my pleasure to attend the National Conference of State Legislatures (NCSL) 2013 Legislative Summit in Atlanta, Georgia from August 12 to 15, 2013. The conference prides itself on being to be the largest national gathering which brings together legislators and personnel involved with cities and Legislatures. The structure of the national conference is to provide delegates with the opportunities to learn and explore policy ideas, to inspire conversations with others and to help build strong directions for policy action and application. Although the NCSL 2013 Legislative Summit had many sessional offerings, only a few are highlighted for the purpose of the enclosed report.

As per the international agenda there was an official welcome along with introductions for the international delegates. The presiding officials included Illinois state Senator Pamela Althoff, co-chair of the Task Force on International Relations; Massachusetts state Senator Richard Moore, co-chair of the Task Force on International Relations; and Maryland state Senator Verna Jones Rodwell, co-chair of the Task Force on International Relations. International delegates were provided with an opportunity to meet and share thoughts about conference expectations and priorities. Topics of interest as noted by some of the international delegates included K to 12 education systems, advanced education, electoral systems and campaigns, scholarship programs, elected official training, lobbyist registries, Office of the Ethics Commissioner, legislative systems in developing countries, infrastructure needs and challenges, party systems, e-government digital tools and systems and social inequities and challenges for governments. There were delegations from the following countries: Australia, Austria, Azerbaijan, Brazil, Belgium, Canada, China, the Democratic Republic of the Congo, the Federated States of Micronesia, Germany, Ghana, India, Indonesia, Japan, Kenya, Lebanon, Mali, Mexico, Nigeria, Portugal, the Russian Federation, Saudi Arabia, South Africa, Sudan, the Taiwan Provincial Conservative Council, Tanzania, Uganda, the United States of America and Zimbabwe.

It was my pleasure to attend, on behalf of the Speaker the special meeting between Canadian provincial Speakers and U.S. state Legislatures. The Honourable Terie Norelli, Speaker of the House, General Court of New Hamshire, and president of NCSL, provided opening remarks and introductions. Mr. William Pound, executive director of NCSL, provided historical and current perspectives on the ongoing relationship between NCSL and the Canadian Legislatures. The agenda included general discussions in the following areas: the exchange of knowledge to help promote Legislature best practices over the next three to five years, ways and means to support inter-parliamentarian relationships and networks, the short and long-term work of NCSL task forces and committees, international affiliates to NCSL and potential ideas for future directions to strengthen working relationships.

In addition, another highlight included international program round-table discussions with U.S. state legislators and NCSL personnel on the topic of “international comparisons and universal solutions.” There was a high level of interaction at this session to exchange ideas and insights as well critical points of interest in the areas of energy public health, disaster relief, demographic changes, constituent outreach, technology, media relations and Bill drafting. Also, delegates approached the discussions from the perspective of developing and strengthening democracies and the Crucial role of Legislatures and governance.

Many conference delegates attended the session that featured Ms. Sandra Day O’Connor, the first woman appointed to the U.S. Supreme Court. Ms.
O’Connor’s presentation emphasized the United States constitutional legacy, which was connected to the 225th anniversary commemoration. Special highlights included the system of electing judges and the implications of this approach. She referenced the following website icivics.org to ignite youth to explore the civic system.

Another very special and wonderful experience made available to delegates was an opportunity to attend a session with former U.S. President Jimmy Carter. Former President Carter shared information about the history and the many accomplishments of the centre, which is guided by a fundamental commitment to advance peace and health worldwide.

The conference sessions, which featured topics regarding mobile interfaces of technology, digitization and Legislature structures, appeared to be of great interest to NCSL delegates. The presentations and discussion points ranged from governments’ lack of response to embrace technology tools, which would have dramatic gains on productivity, to real-time information and response systems in all aspects of Legislature business.

On behalf of the Alberta delegation and guests it was an honour and privilege to have the opportunity to attend a nationally and internationally recognized conference filled with specialized and resourceful sessions.
Without a doubt, delegates from around the world met to exchange concepts and ideas with colleagues, with a view to augment professional experiences and to create networks that, no doubt, in many cases will last a lifetime.

The following days’ discussions centred on the “impact of immigration on the status of French in our country/province.” The session started with a presentation from Professor François Charbonneau, who described immigration patterns in Canada and their impact on francophone communities. Other presentations were made by Alberta (Hector Goudreau, MLA), Canadian federal representatives, British Columbia, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, Quebec and Ontario. All presenters discussed their individual situations, highlighting both the challenges and benefits of immigration of francophone communities in a minority situation.

The session concluded with a discussion on future themes to be studied.
Social media was one topic amongst many that most felt required deeper discussion.

  2014 CCPAC/CCOLA Conference

Delegate Report by Janice Sarich

It was my pleasure to attend the 34th annual joint Canadian Council of Public Accounts Committees (CCPAC) and the Canadian Council of Legislative Auditors (CCOLA) Conference, hosted by the Legislative Assembly of Saskatchewan and the Office of the Provincial Auditor of Saskatchewan in Regina, Saskatchewan, from August 25 to 17, 2013. The conference brings together legislators and personnel involved with public accounts committees to meet jointly with the Legislative Auditors to engage in discussions relating to many aspects of financial accountability and other topics.

The joint conference activities of CCPAC and CCOLA began with opening remarks by Warren McCall, chair, Saskatchewan Standing Committee on Public Accounts, and Bonnie Lysyk, Provincial Auditor of Saskatchewan.
This was followed by a presentation by Paul Lohnes, president and CEO, CCAF-FCVI Inc., and Geoff Dubrow, Principal Associate, CCAF-FCVI Inc., on the new survey and results from the 2013 survey of Canada’s 14 public accounts committees. The survey and results were identified as groundbreaking when compared to the two previous surveys as the PAC chairs and vice-chairs were included for the first time. The comprehensive report concentrated on 12 attributes of an effective public accounts committee.

Following this item of conference activity Geoff Dubrow, principal associate, CCAF-FCVI Inc., facilitated a session which included 14 presentations and discussions on the topic of “effective jurisdictional practices.” Each jurisdiction, which included the PAC chair and auditor as well as federal, provincial and territorial representatives, was asked to comment on one preselected practice in which they considered their PAC to be particularly effective.

Gabrielle Scrimshaw, co-founder of the Aboriginal Professional Association of Canada, provided a presentation to delegates on “redefining the relationship.” She touched on her personal journey as a Dene aboriginal, moving from the Hatchet Lake First Nation community in northern Saskatchewan to Toronto. She highlighted issues and challenges within this population demographic. Also, the presentation noted that steps toward indigenous well-being included, closing skill and education gaps and creating conditions for the advancement of policy development and private sector relationships that include this population segment.

Bonnie Lysyk, Provincial Auditor of Saskatchewan, and Kim MacPherson, Auditor General of New Brunswick, presented a session on “demystifying Legislative Auditors’ reports: audit selection, reporting and recommendations – the impact on public account committees.” Highlights included the varying mix of work between attest audit work and other audit work as well as a trend toward increasing performance work, environmental and governance auditing.

A portion of day two of the conference’s afternoon session was dedicated to panel presentations on “acting on the Auditor General’s report: the role of PACs in addressing Auditor General reports.” Mr. Rob Anderson, MLA for Airdrie and chair of the Standing Committee on Public Accounts for the Legislative Assembly of Alberta, was one of four presenters on the topic.

Also, Mr. Michael Samson, CPA, CA and Acting Auditor General of Québec, presented information which included the following points of interest.

The last day of the conference program included break-out sessions for three groups e.g., chairs/deputy chairs, clerks/researchers and other PAC members. Yours truly attended the session facilitated by CCAF in which delegates presented specific examples of effective committee member questioning techniques from their respective PASSs. As previously agreed, the Alberta example highlighted dialogue excerpts from the Standing Committee on Public Accounts – Enterprise and Advanced Education (pages 76–77). Also, delegates received a wide range of information pieces from other jurisdictions, which included how to manage difficult witnesses, how to explore a line of questioning, PAC Caucus premeeting objectives and question co-ordination, the rationale of swearing-in witnesses and the importance of receiving an answer rather than bafflegab.

In addition, there was a session on reporting and follow-up, which was facilitated by Geoff Dubrow, Principal Associate, CCAF-FCVI Inc. The focus touched on the examination of the PAC best practices for writing committee reports, unanimity, report-tableting in the Legislature, issuing recommendations and conducting follow-up hearings.

Closing remarks for the conference were received by the delegates, followed by a special invitation to attend the next conference to be held in St. John’s, Newfoundland. The closing luncheon featured Mr. Darrell Bricker, CEO of Ipsos Global Public Affairs and author of The Big Shift. There were many engaging and interesting parts in his remarks, particularly when he discussed how immigration has played a role in the seismic changes that have taken place in Canada, Canadian politics and the new evolving political philosophies.

Working Session of the Committee on Economy, Trade, Labour, Competitiveness and Trading Blocs

Working session of the Committee on Environment and Sustainable Development

Meeting of the executive committee of the COPA

Plenary session of the 12th general assembly of the COPA

Delegate Report

The conference was a real eye opener for me, meeting a lot of interesting people from the Americas and having discussed important issues. Most of the North American, Central American and South American countries were represented with the exception of the United States of America. We had speakers addressing the conference from the United Nations as well as the ambassador of Mexico and the ambassador of Venezuela to Brazil in addition to senators and congressmen and women from the Brazilian government.

The issues that dominated the conference agenda were the following:

- Issues concerning women were front and centre, ranging from poverty, lack of proper education, pay equity, participation in politics and the inability to participate in the decision-making process.
- The conference called on the Parliamentarians of the Americas to take action to contribute towards achieving by 2015 the millennium development goal to reduce the under the age of five child mortality rate in Latin America and the Caribbean region, which is 18 deaths per 1,000 live births.
- Health was also a major topic of discussion at the conference. The speaker focused on the use of tobacco, salt, sugar and the consumption of alcohol. Lack of exercise was also discussed, and it was noted that in Brazil obesity is a major concern. One speaker mentioned that 48 per cent of the population is either obese or overweight in the 40 to 50 age demographic. Added to this are the prevalence of infections and chronic diseases, so a large population of Brazil is at risk. Some of the goals that arose from the discussion were to reduce tobacco and alcohol usage, to limit the intake of salt and sugar and to ultimately to increase physical activity.
- Trading and trafficking in small arms and light weapons was another major topic of discussion with the delegates, especially those from Central and Latin America, due to the harm inflicted on women, children and civilian populations. Also, the conference called on all states in accordance with their respective international obligations to regulate and supervise the international trade of conventional weapons, to prevent their diversion for illicit purposes and to implement effective systems of national control.
- The conference also advanced and encouraged the fight against school withdrawal and urged for school re-entry.
- A resolution was submitted and a recommendation was made that the participation of parliamentarians from COPA in a multilateral electoral observation mission is a matter of priority in order to attain the COPA objective of contributing to the strengthening of parliamentary democracy and to dispatch an electoral observation mission to Colombia to monitor the first round of the presidential election on May 25, 2014.
- A draft declaration by the Cuban delegation was circulated to delegates, stating the adverse effects of the Cuban trade embargo imposed by the United States of America on the health of the Cuban people; however, no action was taken.
- Haiti also presented a draft request to condemn the Dominican Republic for threatening to deprive Dominican Republic citizens of their citizenship if they live in Haiti; however, no action was taken.

function as regional economies. The topic was relative to all regions of the country.

- Climate change: The presentation explored why it has proven to be so difficult to tackle from a public policy perspective.
- Population aging: A paradigm shift – Is this a crisis or an opportunity?: The session addressed the importance of using an inclusive, non-ageist lens when developing legislation, policies, programs, and services.

At lunch we were honoured to tour the Legislature Building in St. John’s and learn about their building and history.

In the evening we were treated to Newfoundlander’s hospitality. We toured the Bay Roberts Cable Building National Historic Site, followed by an evening dedicated to celebrating Newfoundland and Labrador culture through skits, music and a sampling of some catch from the sea. It was a great evening at the Royal Canadian Legion at Bay Roberts waterfront.

Saturday, November 2, we continued with session 4 and session 5. Topics we covered included enhancing financial accountability in B.C. The final session was on “parliamentary customs, modern expectations: Can they co-exist?”. This session was facilitated by our Speaker of the House, the Honourable Gene Zwozdesky.

The evening was complete by a reception hosted by the Honourable Ross Wiseman, Speaker of the Newfoundland and Labrador Legislative Assembly, at The Rooms Provincial Archives and Museum.

We experienced fabulous and warm hospitality from our host province. We had the opportunity to connect with all parties and regions of our nation. Seminars like this give parliamentarians across the nation the opportunity to learn from one another. This was an excellent professional opportunity that all MLAs should experience when the opportunity arises.

Delegate Report

I had the honour to represent the province of Alberta at the Assemblée parlementaire de la Francophonie conference in Brussels. I was able to join other colleagues from across Canada and around the world. The experience reinforced interparliamentary relations as we worked together to enhance policies concerning francophone communities internationally.

Over the year, leading up to the conference, four commissions study general themes, including:
- parliamentary,
- co-op and development,
- education and communication and
- political affairs.

These commissions present reports of their activities and suggestions for the broader conference participants to adopt. As well, four sections – Africa, the Americas, the Asia Pacific region and Europe – also presented on their activities during the past year.

Other agenda items included
- a presentation by Abdou Diouf, general secretary of la Francophonie,
- a number of presentations on media and information and communications technology and
- presentations by Jacques Legendre, parliamentary secretary, and Michel Wolter, treasurer, on the assembly’s financial and annual reports.

The whole conference was interspersed with numerous resolutions that were debated, amended and approved.

This conference was an excellent opportunity to network with colleagues from around the world and to understand the various challenges and opportunities that we all have.

Note: The Assemblée parlementaire de la Francophonie conference in Brussels was held in 2012. Mr. Goudreau’s conference report was inadvertently not included in the 2012 annual report. We regret the error and apologize for this oversight.
