PART B: COMMENTS
Comments *	Motivation for lobbying needs to be understood very well. The motivation behind a lot of it is very narrow and very selfish usually directed toward some special interest group who may already have internal connections to government. The history of these types of relationships needs to be fully researched so that all the facts are made available. Nepotism, favouritism and shady investment exposure between individuals and government contacts must be identified, scrutinized, exposed in complete detail and stopped.
