PART B: COMMENTS
Comments *	Every Albertan deserves transparency about how policy decisions are made. The current Lobbyist registration process works toward that. Greater transparency is welcome. Any person who is providing advice or commentary to help government who is not a direct employee in the public service should be registered and the substance of their advice and perspective should be available and searchable for public review. This does not include legal advice of course, though legal opinions that shape policy should be available for public scrutiny.
