PART B: COMMENTS
Comments *	The Lobbyists Act is an excellent start. However, I believe that lobbyists can unduly counterbalance public sentiment and majority needs. Follow the money should be published and publicly available, including sponsoring companies within companies, organizations, foreign individuals/foreign companies, regarding lobbyists. Any lobbying done should be clearly attributed to the funding sources/affiliations. Advertising through media such as television, radio, internet should also be publicly disclosed as part of the advertising. Transparency of funding in all of its forms should be paramount.
