PART B: COMMENTS
Comments *	Lobbyists are able to influence politicians decisions through money, donations & influence peddling. Ordinary citizens have no/less opportunity to access politicians to make decisions that are in the populations best interests. Business only supports decisions that benefit businesses. Individual citizens cannot financially influence politicians decisions to the same degree as businesses. If politicians benefit in any way from lobbyist money, they should be barred from voting on any bills that the lobbyists are trying to influence.
