This is the dumbest Bill ever. I have been a red seal mechanic for over 26 years and was self employed for 18 of them. I sold everything to get out of the industry because diagnostics were killing me financially. The tools and training required along with data required kills the small shop. You people want mechanic shops to invest heavily and work for free. WHAT A joke!!! Do you work for free. How about you have to sift through all these emails for free. Oh but before you do you have to buy the computer yourself and pay for the Internet yourself. You don't even get paid to reply back to me. You only get paid if this bill goes away . How does that sound? Government needs to be the small referee on the side lines not the big jerk bullying players on the field. I vote No!!!
