More and more I find that outside interests are controlling what the governments here do. The Americans are controlled by corporate interests and act much like a gang of thieves messing with all who do not do it their way. I now see and have read that politicians in Canada are being bought up at cheap prices and cost us billions using the fake carbon BS to push their will on us. My question is, is there any real honest people left that can't be bought and work for the people. As for lobbyists I would jail the whole bunch of them if there is money passed in any way with no limitations on time. Our children's future is being sold for a few greedy people to pad their bank accounts and they are afraid to have an open discussion on what is the truth. Our coal and oil is scrubbed when burnt plus when you look at the pollution created by the solar and wind mill production not alone high maintenance we win hands down but the crooks (NDP) will not address this. Both technologies are fatally flawed but no one seems to care because the corrupt parts of government block the real reason which is the corporate bottom line not the welfare of the people.
