My suggestion: We need a “sunshine list” for sample members of the private sector to give meaning to the numbers on the sunshine list. Just how much is $108,784? To a pensioner, it’s a fortune. To a professional earner, a dentist perhaps, it’s peanuts. What does the average plumber, doctor, teacher, retail sales person, carpenter, wait staff, lawyer, etc. make? Numbers are meaningless out of context.
